Citrus Blossom

The Citrus groves are located at the Gilboa foothills where the waters of the Gideon Spring flow. The honey is collected in the months of March/April, when the blossoming of the Citrus trees fill the country with a heavy scent.

Sizophus Blossom

The rich aromatic nectar of the Sizophus plant produces a unique and savory flavored honey. The Sizophus blossoms in the Jordan Valley throughout the months of May, June and July.

Galilee Starthistle Blossom

The Starthistle grows wild on the high hills of the Galilee and Jerusalem and blossoms during the hot summer months. It is known for its mild, delicate flavor and aroma.

Wildflower Blossom

A mix of the Israeli wild flowers blossoming on the Nazareth hills and Yizrael valley.

Avocado Blossom

The honey gathered from Avocado groves that are grown in the northern portion of Israel, are rich in vitamins and minerals. It has a unique dark amber color and a distinctive aroma.
